Cost breakdown:

- Shit shovel: $2
- Romy sans-barrel AK kit: $200
- Barrel blank: $30

Probably one of the most epic things I've ever seen or heard regarding firearms.

Check out the full thread over at North East Shooters for tons of pics and the back story.

complimentary ENDO Apparel AK-47 fire selector switch t-shirt for being so awesome at life. (New stock arriving soon for those of you who want a size I don't currently have… get on the notification list)

Well well more proof that you can't ban guns unless you ban metal, shovels, fire, wood etc… hahah

The same guy also built a PPSh too which you should also check out.

Thoughts?

Would one put on that? I don't know enough about AKs. Putting a shovel would be funny, but not enough people would get it. Do you have a link to a standard set of tools people use to make an AK?

Probably not enough demand for an AK shovel shirt.

This guy is awesome! Mike let him design your next shirt?

I like the idea of an AK builders club t-shirt that someone mentioned above. He wouldn't be the guy to design it though.

"Well well more proof that you can't ban guns unless you ban metal, shovels, fire, wood etc…"

Don't joke about it! Especially if you can make it with the shoulder-thing that goes up!

reply

AK™

Ah..someone already mentioned "shoulder thing that goes up"..crap.

wow, he has fewer tools than I do and makes way better guns! Points for ingenuity and moxie!

This is so epic. And classy move with the t-shirt

AK Builder's club tools would be a Hammer, a multi-tool and a screwdriver. All of which you could somehow draw to resemble a sickle and hammer.

awesome! It looks like a shit shovel. I love how shitty it looks! I want one!

"more proof that you can't ban guns unless you ban metal, shovels, fire, wood etc…" ?? And the receiver? He made that out of what — a desk drawer organizer? This is just another loophole to circumvent firearms regulations.
